

Humans vs. Machines

See how the share of tasks will change from 2020 to what's expected in 2025

Key takeaways

Roles that leverage human skills will rise in demand (97 million new roles expected)

Machines will be primarily focused on information and data processing, administrative tasks, and routine manual jobs (potentially disrupting 85 million jobs globally)